RESPONSIBILITIES

Become part of our new team that offers excellent services in the field of real estate management. As project manager, you will independently coordinate major national and/or international site development and urban masterplanning projects from end-to-end, including the evaluation and negotiation of contracts, under full legal and BASF policy compliance.

- You will render on the ground proactive professional support for all BASF sites in any aspect of real estate, including data maintenance and timely reporting.
- With the support of external service providers, you will drive planning permission initiatives and liaise with authorities as well as prepare a high-quality decision basis to executive management.
- You will not only support in the development and execution of corporate real estate strategies but also create standards and benchmarks, including industrial site policies.
- Within M&A projects of BASF's business units, you will support real estate related due diligences, carve-outs or integration matters.

QUALIFICATIONS

- university degree in Urban Masterplanning, alternatively in Architecture or Engineering with postgraduate real estate-specific education
- several years of relevant experience as well as project management and project leadership skills, ideally in a large company corporate environment
- profound understanding of legal and urban planning matters as well as good knowledge on acquisition, the management and the disposal of corporate real estate
- experience in stakeholder management as well as strong communication and presentation skills in German and English; any additional language is an asset
- willingness to travel frequently

BENEFITS

- Location-independent work models with defined days of presence in Berlin and place of residence in Germany.
- Flexible working hours so that you can organize your working and private life according to your needs.
- An attractive competitive salary that is based on the company's success and your individual performance.
- Health and wellbeing programs to help you achieve better health and work-life balance.
